To Whom It May Concern:

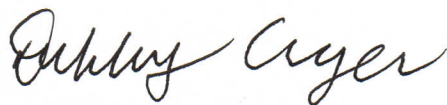

The purpose of this letter is to provide certification that Sprogin is the only agency in Denmark to be authorized by the Environment Rating Scales Institute (ERSI) to provide training on the Environment Rating Scales (ERS) in Denmark. The Environment Rating Scales Institute is the ERS author-owned training group for the scales. This authorization allows Sprogin to certify users of the ERS in Denmark, and to certify others to be ERS trainers as well.

Please note that this specific authorization is given only to the authorized translators of the scales in Denmark. This ERSI control of ERS training is due to the past unauthorized translation and marketing of the scales in Denmark, which was against international copyright law. In addition, since the authors were not informed about the past unauthorized activities with the scales, we have no knowledge about whether the translation was accurate and used appropriately.

Sprogin staff worked with an author of the scales for two weeks in June 2016, to ensure that the translations of the ERS were accurate, reliably used, and so that they could provide the training needed to ensure correct interpretation in Denmark. No other Danish group has received such intensive training from the authors. No other group is authorized to train on the ERS in Denmark without prior arrangement from Sprogin or ERSI.

Please feel free to contact me if more information is needed about this letter.

Sincerely,

Debby Cryer, Ph.D.
